FROM THE PUBLISHER

Graduation is here

Congratulations to all of our graduates and their families from all of us here at the Four Oaks Journal!

It's the end of a long journey and the culmination of years of hard work – for students and families alike.

It's a time for celebration, and a time for joy.

That's what this month's issue is all about. Honoring the achievements of just a few of our local graduates within these pages.

This would not have been possible without the hard work of Dr. Eddie Price and the good folks at South Johnston High School, specifically Brandy Peters and Katie Medlin, who went above and beyond the call of duty to help us with this project.

Now, some food for thought.

In the midst of graduation festivities, it's tempting to stand at the finish line and look back at the course.

Maybe remembering the obstacles, smiling about the good times and ruing the bad.

That's natural.

What's important to remember is that while this race may be over, the next one is just beginning.

Some of you will be heading off to college. Others, to even more college. A few of you will be entering the work force.

No matter what road you're taking next, make sure you attack it with the same energy and fire with which you arrived at graduation day.

I'll leave you with a few lines from the best graduation story ever written, "Oh, the Places You'll Go."

*You'll get mixed up, of course,
as you already know.
You'll get mixed up
with many strange birds as you go.
So be sure when you step,
Step with care and great tact and remember that Life's a Great Balancing Act.
Just never forget to be dexterous and deft.
And never mix up your right foot with your left.*

*And will you succeed?
Yes! You will, indeed!
(98 and 3/4 percent guaranteed.)*

JCS names Adult Volunteer of the Year

Jimmy Abdalla of South Johnston High School has been named the 2015 Johnston County Schools Adult Volunteer of the Year. He was recognized at the annual PTA/PTO Council meeting, held at Smithfield-Selma High School on April 23.

Abdalla has served as a volunteer for students and as a volunteer football coach since 2005 at South Johnston High School. He has had two children to graduate from the school, but his motivation to serve the school is rooted more deeply in his love for the students and the community.

During the last 10 years, he has provided clothing for athletes who could not afford spirit wear, purchased T-shirts for the football staff and players, transported coaches and provided funds for them to attend clinics, paid for all the players who needed funding to attend football camps and consistently served as a mentor to athletes without functional families.

Submitted by Johnston County Schools

There's a New Doctor in Town

The Four Oaks location of Horizon Family Medicine has a new doctor on staff, and she's excited to be in town.

Dr. Monica Selak joined the staff in August of last year, and she's quickly found her place in the practice.

"I just love taking care of moms and babies," Dr. Selak said. "I think it's my little niche in the practice."

While she enjoys that part of her job, Dr. Selak is also proud of the wide range of services provided by Horizon Family Medicine.

"I think Horizon's unique because we do full scope family medicine, which is pretty unusual for a private practice," Dr. Selak said. "We do everything from delivering babies to taking care of our own patients when they're hospitalized. I think that's great because you don't have to necessarily see a whole bunch of other providers when you're in the hospital or thinking about having a family."

Even if your medical concerns aren't quite that serious, the practice is equipped to meet a variety of medical needs.

"It's also nice because our facilities are set up where we can do our own lab work, take x-rays, ultrasounds – we do a lot of our own testing as well," Dr. Selak said. "Folks don't have to go to the hospital or to an outside facility. We try to keep everything as a one-stop shop."

Dr. Selak, 30, is a northeast Ohio native and a Notre Dame and University of Cincinnati graduate. Most recently, she spent three years completing her residency in Chapel Hill.

So, working in Four Oaks is a different experience for her.

"It's smaller than where I grew up, but it's nice," Dr. Selak said. "Everyone knows each other or has some familiarity with each other. It's nice working with Dr. (Stan) Watson. He's from here, and it's been a nice transition to be able to use him to get to know the area and the people."

CONGRATULATIONS

Class of 2015

Alan Luke Johnson

School: South Johnston

Age: 18

Post-graduate plans: My post-graduate plans are to attend a community college for two years, then transfer to a university to pursue a Masters degree in Nursing.

What (if anything) will you miss most about school?: There are many things I will miss about high school. I will miss the relationships and friendships during these four years with my teammates and coaches who have been a part of basketball, soccer and baseball.

Favorite subject/s: Math

Hobbies/interests: Play basketball, ride four-wheelers and hang out with friends and family

Favorite book: The Bible

Favorite TV show: "Mike and Molly"

Amber Hill

School: South Johnston

Age: 17

Post-graduate plans: I plan to major in Art Education at UNC Pembroke.

Favorite subject/s: Math and English

Hobbies/interests: Color guard and winter guard

Ana Leslie Martinez Garcia

School: South Johnston

Age: 17

Post-graduate plans: I plan on either going to the Chef's Academy to pursue a culinary degree or start out at Johnston Community College taking Business or Accounting classes.

What (if anything) will you miss most about school?: I will definitely miss seeing my friends every day and the simpleness of high school for going to college or starting a career will be adventurous.

Favorite subject/s: Art, English and Math

Hobbies/interests: Reading, crafts and drawing

Favorite book: "Divergent" by Veronica Roth

Favorite TV show: "Hell's Kitchen"

Andrew Van Hoy

School: UNC Wilmington

Age: 23

Post-graduate plans: I plan to find work relating to my major (Psychology). I will also be preparing to apply to a Master's of Social Work program within the state (UNCW is my first choice), so finding work in the social work field is also an option. Basically, I will be preparing myself to re-enter school as a graduate student studying social work. After I receive my master's in social work, I plan on completing the requirements to be licensed as a clinical social worker.

What, if anything, will you miss most about school?: I will definitely miss the atmosphere that a college campus offers. I will miss the friends I have made here as well as the professors who I have worked with closely over the past few years.

Favorite subjects: Well Psychology is definitely my favorite subject, more specifically Abnormal Psychology and Theories of Counseling and Therapy. I have always enjoyed and appreciated History and English as well. I am not a fan of Math!

Hobbies/interests: Playing guitar, fishing, listening to music, reading, spending time with friends

Favorite book: "Cat's Cradle" by Kurt Vonnegut

Favorite TV show: "The Office"

Brett Clifton

School: South Johnston

Age: 17

Post-graduate plans: I plan on attending UNC Wilmington for Pre-Engineering and then transferring to N.C. State to earn my degree.

Favorite subject/s: Math and History

Hobbies/interests: Hanging out with my friends, playing basketball and fishing

Favorite book: "Big Red" by Jim Kjelgaard

Favorite TV show: "SportsCenter"

Brianna Williams

School: South Johnston

Age: 17

Post-graduate plans: I plan to attend N.C. State to major in Biology and then continue my education in medical school in order to become a general practitioner.

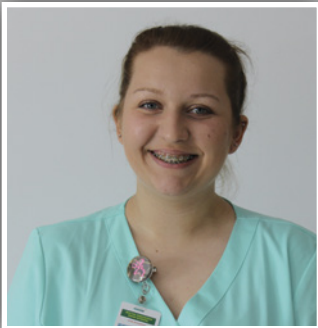

What (if anything) will you miss most about school?: Seeing my best friends every day

Favorite subject/s: Science

Hobbies/interests: Tennis, softball and reading

Favorite book: "When Crickets Cry" by Charles Martin

Favorite TV show: "Grey's Anatomy"

Brittany Benson

School: South Johnston

Age: 18

Post-graduate plans: Pursuing a career in the Radiography field.

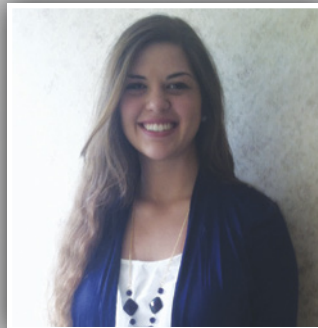

What (if anything) will you miss most about school?: The flexible schedule. You may have school really early, but by 2:20 p.m., it is over.

Favorite subject/s: Math and Health Sciences

Hobbies/interests: Fishing, hunting and volunteering

Favorite book: "The Fault in Our Stars" by John Green

Favorite TV show: "Grey's Anatomy" and "The Vampire Diaries"

Cassidy L. Guignard

School: Johnston Community College

Age: 21

Post-graduate plans: Hopefully going to CT school, or continuing my education by getting my Bachelor's in Radiologic Sciences. I have also thought about going two more years after getting my (degree) to become a radiology assistant.

What (if anything) will you miss most about school?: Learning has always been something I love to do, so just seeing how things work or discovering new things I will certainly miss!

Favorite subject/s: Physics

Hobbies/interests: Reading

Favorite book: "Where the Wild Things Are" by Maurice Sendak

Favorite TV show: "Grey's Anatomy"

Chase Dudley

School: South Johnston

Age: 17

Six area students to attend Governor's School

Johnston County Schools is sending six of its best and brightest students to the prestigious Governor's School of North Carolina. The names of the selected students along with their area of concentration and their high school are as follows: Robin Braswell, Johnston County Early College Academy (Social Science); Mitchell Burleson, Corinth Holders High School (Instrumental Music); Melaine Hardee, South Johnston High School (Natural Science); Isha Henry, Clayton High School (Instrumental Music); Noah Kiser, Smithfield-Selma High School (Instrumental Music); and Maya Palmer, Cleveland High School (English).

Governor's School of North Carolina is a five-week summer residential program for intellectually gifted high school students, integrating academic disciplines, the arts, and unique courses on each of two campuses. The curriculum focuses on the exploration of the most recent ideas and concepts in each discipline, and does not involve credit, tests, or grades.

Principals, school counselors, and teachers nominate applicants and send their names to the superintendent. A district committee then determines which of the school nominees will be sent for final selection at the state level. There are 10 curriculum areas: art, choral music, dance, English, foreign language (French and Spanish), instrumental music, mathematics, natural science, social science and theater.

Governor's School is the oldest statewide summer residential program for academically or intellectually gifted high school students in the nation. The school is located on two campuses of up to 275 students each: Governor's School-West at Salem College in Winston-Salem, and Governor's School-East at Meredith College in Raleigh. About 32,000 people have attended since the school was founded by former Governor Terry Sanford in 1963.

Youth spent on a farm, love for animals inspires local veterinarian

Get a room full of people together and ask about animals. You'll end up meeting cat people and dog people, not to mention snake people or rabbit people.

You'll meet some folks who don't like animals at all. Or, maybe you'll meet a person who likes them so much that he has devoted his life to their care and well-being.

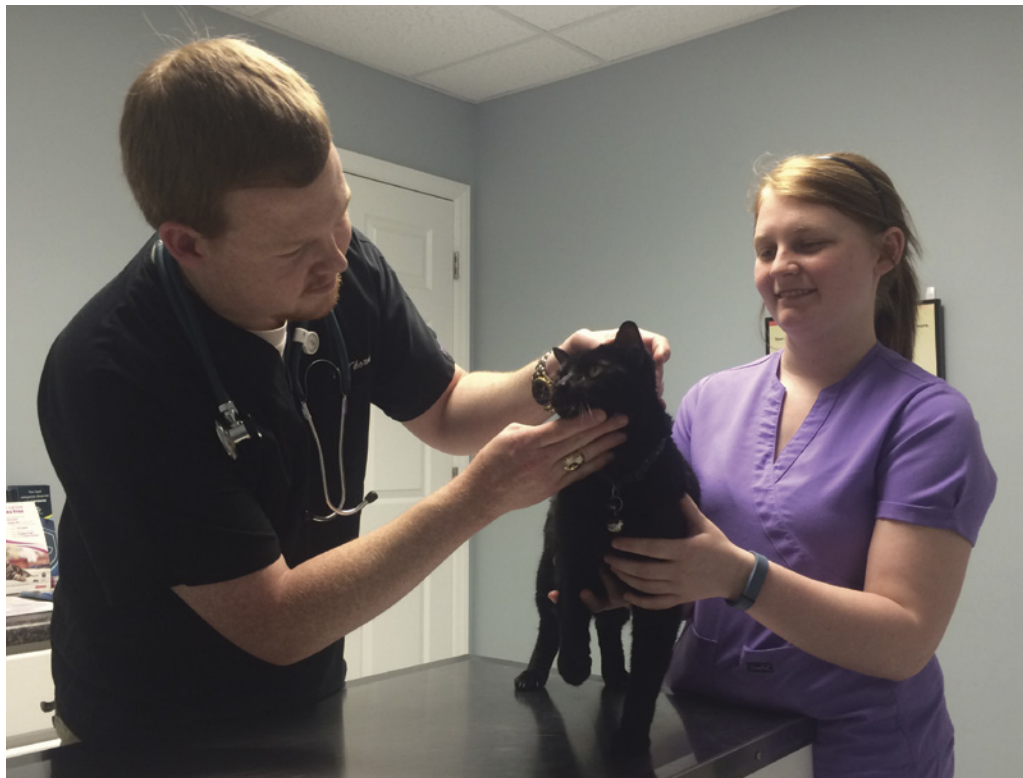

Someone like Dr. Jason Thornton at Quality Care Animal Hospital in Four Oaks, perhaps.

Dr. Thornton, a Grantham native and N.C. State graduate, opened his office in January 2014, and his practice is the culmination of a lifetime spent around animals.

I grew up on a farm in a rural area, just over in Wayne County," he said. "I just grew up around farm animals and pets, and my granddad got me interested in things like showing livestock and such when I was four or five years old. That's what sort of initiated things, and it went from there."

It's that sort of affinity for animals and their care that drives Dr. Thornton's philosophy as a veterinarian – and a business owner.

"Our purpose is to provide high quality veterinary care in a very friendly, welcoming environment," he said. "We're laid back. We don't want anyone to feel on-edge, like they can't ask questions. That's a big part of what we want to do – educate. If you have any questions, we want to go over every one of them before you leave."

Practice manager Tessa Reardon is also an animal lover, but the Dunn native enjoys meeting the pet owners as well.

"Everyone here is very friendly and welcoming," she said. "I like animals, but the people is what I like to deal with. I just like being helpful, answering questions, being there to comfort them – whatever they need."
